

To whom it may concern

I am writing this letter to express how please we are with Victor's K9-101 classes. My dog Katie is a Labradoodle who is now 2 years old. Because she was my first dog I knew little about dog behaviors (even though we took her to PetSmart for puppy training and had read countless books) and at year and a half found my sweet wonderful dog becoming increasingly head strong. I was worried that she would not "come" on command, or "heel" during walks (which were more like a tug of war), and to boot she had a habit of jumping up on everyone!

In a chance meeting with Victor we ended up discussing our dogs and he explained how I was not the alpha dog and until I established that relationship I would never have control over Katie. Well "control" was the key word my ears perked up "how do you do that?" I had tried treats and choke collars but never had complete obedience from my dog and knew that I really wanted obedience from my pet. Because of Victor's obvious love and passion for dogs he captivated me with his theory on dog behavior. Well I immediately agreed to a five week lesson for Katie. At first I was a little taken a back with the prong collar and the strict approach that was necessary. "Would my dog fear me and not be as affectionate and as loving as before such strict lessons?" my husband and I wondered. After the first week Katie was not only heeling and making turns on command, she was also the loving attentive dog that we adored. We were thrilled with the outcome and never looked back.

Katie is so much better after Victor's five week obedience training. She learned quickly and she and I had lots of fun getting out everyday and training. I know with her collar I am in total control of her behavior and better yet even without the collar she is more obedient and well trained. Katie and I work every day on the lessons we learned and are looking forward to more advanced training in the near future. I obviously highly recommend Victor's K9-101 Training. Your treasured pet is well worth your effort and the rewards are priceless!
